Music Instructor Selects Chorus

The Rev. Lawrence Heiman, instructor in music at St. Joseph's, has announced that he has completed his selections for the 300-voice National High School Chorus which will sing in Cleveland at the conventions of three National Catholic Educational Associations, March 26-30. The three groups are the National Catholic Music Educators Association, Catholic Business Educators Association, and the Jesuit Educational Association.

On National Board

Father Heiman, on the national board of directors of the National Catholic Music Educators Association and also executive secretary of that group's Indiana unit, was appointed at the November meeting of the NCMEA national board to organize the chorus, which was originally intended to be of 200 voices.

About 700 applications to his request for high school students to sing in the chorus were received by Father Heiman. Approximately 100 schools from half the states will be represented, with students attending from the Eastern seaboard, Louisiana, Colorado, and Minnesota.

Three-day Clinic

Mr. Robert Hufstader, of the Julliard School of Music, New York, will direct the chorus which will attend a three-day clinic prior to singing before the convention delegates in Cleveland's Public Auditorium.

The chorus will consist of 100 sopranos, 85 altos, 50 tenors, and 65 basses.

Fifty Mothers Form Group To Aid St. Joe

A group of 50 mothers of St. Joseph's students met at a luncheon, Saturday, Jan. 20, in Mandel's Ivory Room, Chicago, and organized "The St. Joseph's College Mothers' Club of Chicago." The purpose of the club is to further Catholic Education and to publicize St. Joseph's. Representing St. Joseph's at the luncheon and organizational meetings were the Very Rev. Alfred Zanolar, president, and the Revs. Joseph Otte, Raphael Gross, Richard Baird, and John Sheehan.

Officers Elected

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Tad O'Connell, president; Mrs. George Cahill, 1st vice president; Mrs. Frank Basko, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Robert Underwood, 3rd vice president; Mrs. Paul Cherry, 4th vice president; Mrs. William Heniff, Sr., treasurer; and Mrs. J. J. O'Brien, secretary.

A publicity committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Cahill, was formed, with the following mothers chosen to serve: Mrs. E. J. Paonessa, Southeast Side; Mrs. John Murphy, Southwest Side; Mrs. Frank Lynn, North Side; Mrs. Walter Keating, West Side; and Mrs. M. W. Barnes, Suburban.

A constitution is now being formulated and will be presented to the members of the club at the next luncheon to be held early in April.

Eight to Attend NFCCS Meet At Fort Wayne

"Student Leadership in a World in Crisis," will be the theme of the Ft. Wayne Regional Workshop which will be held at St. Francis College, Ft. Wayne, Feb. 9, 10, and 11. The Most Rev. Leo A. Pursley, Auxiliary Bishop of Ft. Wayne, will be the keynote speaker.

Representing St. Joseph's at the Workshop will be the Rev. Joseph Scheuer, campus moderator of the NFCCS; the Rev. Albert Wuest, moderator of the Science Commission; Joe McGrath, president of the Student Council; John Bassett, chairman of the National Press Commission; Don Netols, chairman of the Regional Press Commission; Bob Hummel, chairman of the Science Commission; Bill Woody, associate editor of Scoop, the regional newspaper; and Cy Borys, Junior Delegate on the campus.

Council to Meet

Student and religious activities, social and international affairs will be discussed in panel sessions at the Workshop. Before the initial session of the Workshop on Saturday, a Regional Council meeting will be held on Friday, Feb. 9.

College Begins 40 Hours Devotion

The annual Forty Hours Devotion, scheduled for this week end, Feb. 9-11, offers all on St. Joseph's campus an opportunity for three prayer-full days of devotion to our Eucharistic King. Opening with a Solemn High Mass at 5:45, Friday morning, the exercises will continue through Saturday and Sunday, and close with Eucharistic Procession and Benediction, Sunday evening.

The Very Rev. President, Father Zanolar, will be celebrant of the Solemn Mass on Friday. It will be followed by a solemn procession with Brothers, Sisters, Xavier students and clergy taking part.

On Saturday the Mass "For Peace" will be sung at 6:20 a. m. Evening prayers and Solemn Benediction are stated for Friday and Saturday evening at 6:30. Two High Masses will be sung on Sunday, the first at 8:00 a. m., the second at 9:30 a. m.

Adoration periods have been assigned to men in the various

24 Students Better 2.50

Twenty-four students with an Index of 2.50, or higher, merited a place on the honor roll at the semester grading period, according to an announcement by the Rev. Walter Pax, Dean of Studies. They are: Buel T. Adams, Mansfield, Ohio; Mark L. Beischel, Cincinnati, Ohio; John A. Brown, Buffalo, N. Y.; Daniel P. Deneau, Kankakee, Ill.; John W. Donahue, Cleveland, Ohio; Philip F. Gilbert, Chicago, Ill.; George J. Grecu, Kokomo, Ind.; Robert L. King, Louisville, Ky.; George R. Kuhn, Detroit, Mich.; Thomas L. McNeerney, Toledo, Ohio; George W. Mach, Ottawa, Ohio; Eugene J. Mellady, East Chicago, Ind.; Francis J. Molson, Whiting, Ind.; James C. Murray, Chicago, Ill.; Joseph D. Perisich, Joliet, Ill.; Joseph A. Peters, Mansfield, Ohio; Raymond C. Pfriem, St. Bernard, Ohio; Vladimir N. Pregelj, Trieste, F. T. T.; Paul M. Rall, Upper Sandusky, Ohio; George E. Riggs, Louisville, Ky.; James W. Scholl, Michigan City, Ind.; George J. Smolar, Whiting, Ind.; Richard A. Uecker, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; and Charles R. Witcher, Jasper, Ind.

The following students whose scores fell within the Index range, 2.25-2.47, are awarded honorable mention: Bernard J. Hoff, Defiance, Ohio; John W. Brady, Yankton, S. D.; Emanuel M. Cannonito, Chicago, Ill.; John T. Coyne, Chicago, Ill.; Henry B. Croak, Harvard, Ill.; John A. Cummings, Indianapolis, Ind.; John A. Dennis, Kentland, Ind.; William F. Ferguson, Chicago, Ill.; Patrick J. Gill, Chicago, Ill.; George A. Jucums, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Thomas G. Johnson, Essexville, Mich.; Francis J. Lammers, Leipsic, Ohio; Philip J. McLaughlin, Hammond, Ind.; John A. Metzner, Delphos, Ohio; Paul R. O'Connor, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Robert L. O'Connor, Chicago, Ill.; George E. Peters, Whiting, Ind.; Kenneth J. Ryan, Gary, Ind.; Paul R. Scheiber, Huntington, Ind.; James M. Smith, Cleveland, Ohio; Edward A. Tomko, Cleveland, Ohio; Robert E. Underwood, Chicago, Ill.; Arthur J. Vonderhaar, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; and Virgil A. Wilbelsman, Jr., Washington, Ind.

Martin Heads Geology Club

The newest organization formed on the campus is the Geology Club, whose purpose is to stimulate interest in Geology. Membership is open to students majoring or minoring in that subject.

At a recent election the following were chosen to lead the club in its initial endeavors: Joe Martin, president; John Griffin, vice president; Bob King, secretary; and George Brown, treasurer. Father Carl Nieset is club moderator.

Included in plans for the club are movies treating various phases of the geological field, a series of field trips, and lectures by a number of eminent geologists, among them Dr. Deiss, state geologist.

Eighteen Newcomers Register; Dozen In Army; Fourteen Grads

About 400 St. Joe students enrolled for the second semester of the 1950-'51 school year at St. Joseph's College. At this moment, 397 students are pursuing their courses here, with some late-comers yet to show up.

College Actors Pick "Comedian"

"The Comedian," a three-act drama by Henri Gheon, French playwright, will be the next production of the Columbian Players, it was announced last week by Mr. Ralph Cappuccilli, Players' moderator-director.

Tells of Martyr

Based on the life of St. Genesius, an early Christian martyr and patron saint of actors, the drama's setting is ancient Rome during the Diocletian persecution. All costumes and stage decorations will be reproductions of that period.

Production dates have been set for May 6 and 7. Castings and rehearsals will begin next month. At present the Columbian Players are working on set and costume problems.

Statue Fund Campaign Renewed by Sanguinists

By BUEL T. ADAMS

The 1951 campaign to solicit funds for the proposed life-sized statue of St. Joseph is underway. Joseph Peters, president of the Sanguinist Club, sponsor of the project, announced that this year's drive has opened with an appeal to the freshmen to contribute ten cents a month for the remainder of the year.

Originating several years ago, the campaign has been under the auspices of the Sanguinist Club since its inception. However, Peters points out that the statue will be a monument to the entire student body, not solely to the Sanguinist Club.

Appealing Site

The statue will be sculptured by one of Chicago's outstanding artists and will be erected on the Drexel side of the highway, where the present pine grove is located. A verdant landscape has been planned as a background for the statue, and at its base will be affixed a bronze plaque with an appropriate inscription.

The appeal to the freshmen is the first step in an extensive Sanguinist program scheduled for 1951.

Events Planned

Last year, in addition to soliciting the freshmen, various events were held, the most outstanding of which was the boxing match between members of the Gary CYO, refereed by Tony Zale, well-known middleweight of Gary. Plans for the current year are built along similar lines.

The number includes 18 new students who are beginning their studies here at the semester, it was reported by Mr. James Bogan, registrar of St. Joseph's.

Fourteen seniors graduated at the end of the first semester. About a dozen men left for service in the armed forces.

Registration for all students was held on Jan. 31, and classes began, for the second semester of the sixtieth year of St. Joseph's, on Feb. 1.

Weekly Convocations Start Tomorrow

The new student convocations will begin tomorrow, Feb. 8, at 3:00 p. m. They are to be held regularly throughout the semester, on every Thursday at that same hour. Attendance is compulsory, and the meetings will be one hour in length.

Father Charles Robbins, director of Student Welfare, will initiate the first of the convocations, with an explanation of their purpose, and a general outline of plans. Following will be Father Charles Herber, College Chaplain, speaking on the Forty Hours' devotion scheduled for this week end. Winding up the convocation will be a representative of the NFCCS, who will explain the Catholic Press Drive which that organization is presently conducting on the campus.

Prominent features of the convocations will include talks by various members of the faculty on issues of especial interest, and presentations by some campus organizations, under the sponsorship of the Student Council. The latter are to be, at least in part, for entertainment purposes.

Presently slated to speak are: Father Otte, March 8, on college finances; Father Baird, March 15,

College Favored In Last Will

Last April STUFF announced the death of Mr. Thomas F. Radican, athletic coach at St. Joseph's from April, 1923 to June, 1925.

College authorities have been informed that St. Joseph's was generously remembered in Mr. Radican's last will. The value of the estate has been appraised at $56,938.91, $37,000 in real estate and the remainder in stocks. The will directs that a trust fund be established, the income of which will provide stipends for Masses to be offered for the Radican family. At the expiration of 20 years the residue of the estate is to be divided equally between St. Joseph's and St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind.

England--A Strange Paradox

An exemplar of these confused times is to be found in the strange paradox of the English nation. From current history, a series of very remarkable contrasts can be drawn between the conduct of the English people on the one hand, and of their government on the other.

Examine the situation in Korea, as it concerns the English. They have, up to now, been only too much like the majority of our allies in the skimpiness of their contributions, of both men and materials. Yet, those British troops who are in the conflict, are acquitting themselves in their general fighting competence and spirit.

That "spirit" has, of course, not been evident merely in the present struggle. Who cannot recall the evacuation of Dunkirk in the last war, when the last-ditch struggle of the retreating troops was matched by the courage of those thousands of seamen and civilians who swarmed in boats across the channel to carry out their comrades-in-arms. Throughout this action, selflessness and cooperation predominated.

Yet, are not these the virtues most conspicuously absent among the English leaders today? They seem to regard only their own selfish interests when, for example, they calmly give recognition to the Bandit Aggressor, Red China.

More recently, new statements have been directed against them. In the January 30th issue of the Kansas City Sun Herald, our Catholic Daily in this country, it is revealed that not only have the British not decreased their trade with the Russian satellites, but have markedly stepped it up. In the past year, communist Czechoslovakia and Poland have increased by four times their exports with Great Britain. By thus exporting so heavily, these countries are thereby building up badly needed reserves of British pound sterling.

But again, consider the people in contrast.

Their valor probably rose to its greatest degree in the early, dark days of the last war, during the infamous "Battle of Britain" for mastery of the country's skies. And those skies were successfully defended, due in very large measure to the RAF, ably abetted by its brother services. On the ground, the populace held out admirably also. These people had their airmen and other defenders with whom to cooperate, and they knew that only by doing their own part to its utmost could they most quickly achieve the victory so sought after by all.

Is this the same attitude of self-deprivation, self-negation for the common cause, which we find exhibited among the British leaders today? Is this the case when, for example, they continue to pursue a flourishing, not to say a bountiful trade, not only with Russia's satellites, but with the Soviet herself. Last year, Russia received from England large quantities of heavy machinery of all types, including among other things: boilers, excavators and lathes, and over six million pounds' worth of electric generators.

The government, and the mass of people, are in any country, to some degree at least, separate entities. From all appearances, this seems to be true of England to a remarkable degree.

The damage, however, is still being done. And we cannot but fervently pray that the spirit of the British people, such as they showed in World War II, may perhaps influence their leaders; that they may begin to apply some of those principles of courage and self-sacrifice toward their own relations in the international sphere. Moral responsibility, though it starts with the individual, extends, after all, over the entire Family of Nations.—T. J. S.

War Nerves

Most of us are warm enough to rate a 1-A classification from any examining doctor in today's soldier-procuring army centers. Few of us can look forward to another year of school without an interrupting period of being a soldier. Yet, almost all of us have been assured that we shall be allowed to finish the present school year. We shall not be drafted until next June, after the term ends.

Still, a lethargic spirit, a lack of application to work, a concentration on the future to the detriment of today's duties seems to have settled on the average college man.

The threat of fighting in a third world war, or at least of serving time in the army, throws its shadow over the future of all of us, but it is not a reason for slacking up in our duties, or even shirking them entirely. It is not an excuse for laziness or lack of interest in our work.

Whether we leave college in June to go into the army, or to follow a peace-time profession, or to return to classes in the fall, the education offered us at the present time is valuable. It is to our advantage to get all we can from it, while it is available.

Bigger, Better Boiler Brings More Warmth

The installation of a new boiler in the powerhouse last week end guaranteed adequate heating for Collegeville for the rest of the winter. Unless there develops a situation similar to that of last year at about this time, when coal became generally unavailable, residents of the local community won't have occasion to go home to keep warm.

Actually it will be two weeks before the new heating plant is operating. Mr. Joe Kanne, power house superintendent, stated that it would take several days yet to replace brick work about the boiler and to test and condition it for use.

However, the two active boilers in the power plant have been able to keep the college radiators filled with steam and the hot water pipes filled with hot water. By continuous operation their capacity was sufficient to cope with last week's severe temperatures. Now with the new addition, there will be a standby boiler to provide extra heat as needed.

The new boiler itself is a nine ton cylindrical affair, 6 feet in diameter and 18 feet long. It is much like a big orange colored tank except that it has 70 holes in each end which mark the opening of longitudinal fire tubes. It came by flatcar from Erie, Pa., to replace a boiler that gave out and was removed early last month.

The old steam plant was removed simply by cutting it up with a torch and taking it out in pieces. Installing the new one in the boiler room was somewhat more involved.

A large window behind the boilers was removed and the new one was slid indoors through the opening. Once inside it was sharply moved around pipes and obstructions and pulled into the site of its defective predecessor.

The outside preparations included the blocking up of a ramp to the height of the window opening which was six feet off the ground. Then the boiler was trundled up on a cart and lifted to the ramp by jacks and a motorized crane, so that it rested on rollers ready to be moved inside. The tableau formed by the poised orange cylinder on the ramp supported by the crane and block and tackle resembled some medieval siege machine breaching the south wall of the power house.

When the installation is completed the boiler will contribute 125 horse-power of steam which it generates at 150 pounds pressure.

Catholic Literature Drive On Campus Led by NFCCS

February, Catholic Press Month, features this year the second appearance of a Catholic Press promotion drive on the St. Joe campus. Conducted through the National Press Commission of the NFCCS, the drive will be aimed at student subscriptions to more than 20 of the leading Catholic magazines and periodicals, and will be conducted through the entire month of February.

Included in the list of periodicals offered in the drive are such products of the Catholic press as America, The Catholic Mind, Commonweal, Sign, and The Catholic World. In addition, some 15 other publications, including Our Sunday Visitor, are offered through what the NFCCS terms, "the only truly cooperative Catholic Press plan." Publications for a wide variety of tastes are thus offered to the students.

A short term plan of this type was offered to Collegeville men last Spring, with results that warranted this year's Catholic

A column that sends a toast to everyone because everyone IS news!

LATE BUT SIGNIFICANT: DON CLARK, promising writer, received word that his brother CPL. TOM CLARK, U.S.M.C., age 21, was killed in Korea, Dec. 6. A prayer from this corner, Don. Others will join me.

Freshly dyed congratulations to PAUL POLLACK on being admitted to the St. Louis Med. School!

LIFE IS A LITANY OF HELLOS AND GOODBYES: Transferred to Indiana U., JIM CRAMER and BUZZ PARDUCCI; to the U. of Long Island, ROBERT DANIELS; to Toledo U., JOE DUSZYNSKI; out to the U. of California, JOHN CHAMBERLAIN; golf star ED CAVANAGH to Arizona U.; JOE KISTNER to St. Louis U.; JOHN LOOS to DePaul U.; to the University of Louisville, TOM O'DANIEL; DON QUINN to Marshal College, W. Va.; TOM LIMP to Tri-State College; KEN EBBING, JIM CULLINAN, MIKE BATEMAN, DAN LE MIEUX, FRED BRUHN, BOB BECHLER, FRANK LYNN, BILL MCGARY, ED SEMMERLING, BILL YOUNG, JERRY GOSKO, BERT KING, and JIM O'CONNOR off to branches of the service! Good luck, gang! Keep in touch with us.

A blue ribbon to ROBERT LAMKIN for this one: Quote: "In Indiana we always have 'convertible' weather." Unquote!

Show Business: Whoever gets the lead in the next Columbian Players' production, Gheen's "The Comedian," a drama, must go to Mass and Communion every day. The role is so powerful it demands this wonderful practice!

SIDE GLANCES: KEITH FORTON, former junior, now in the Army, on his way to Japan. FATHER MAZIARZ writing two new books. FATHER BAIRD leaving for Chicago in a whirl and forgetting his suitcase. HARRY ROCHON, with us in October, now in Korea. JOE PINDELL dating TONI DISALLE, daughter of U. S. Price Administrator MICHAEL DISALLE! Writing a new play . . . DAVE COADY! FATHER GROSS back from the University of Montreal. BILL NYE thinking of marriage. FATHER SCHEUER affectionately calling his new cocker spaniel, "Chips." TOM CARMODY at O.C.S., Camp Leonard Wood, Mo. ROBERT HUMMEL, sending sugar reports to BARBARA LAWSON. With the marines on the west coast, JACK KRUSENKLAUS. Down to New Orleans and the Mardi Gras, BOB CENAR, AL FELLINGER and DAN SULLIVAN. HUGH ROSSI steaming ahead with PATTY PUTTS!

A 20-minute movie about St. Joe called "Freshman Focus" will be shown to the student body soon. FREDDY FRISK stars in it!

EXCLUSIVE! BOB BURNS, former St. Joe student and author of "The Perfect Invader," is working on a new novel. It will deal with some phase of labor. He will visit this campus in February or March and consult with FATHERS KENKEL and DIRKSEN, two labor experts! Good Luck, Robert!

SLOW BUT SURE: $1,200 has been collected by the Sanguinist Club for the St. Joseph's statue fund. They have $2,800 to go. If charity covers a multitude of sins, here is our chance! See JOE PETERS, if you wish to give.

POINT OF INFORMATION: The recent tuck-pointing job on the Ad. Building alone cost $20,000! The moral of that figure . . . "never buy a college!"

DEBATABLE: College students, in a recent survey, listed the most pleasant of all sensations as . . . "brushing their teeth in the morning!"

BOOKS WITH A PUNCH that just came in: O'Brien's "Emotions And Morals," Siepmann's, "Radio, Television And Society," Bishop's, "All Things Common."

THE $64.00 QUESTION: Can the Columbian Players and the Glee Club get together again this year for another musical or minstrel? A few laughs are in order these days!

Hall phones can no longer be used for outgoing calls! Read it and weep!

SWEEPING THE NATION! A mood of pessimism! Since the war people think the world is etched in black and gray. Will somebody hand me my paintbrush?

SO-LONG! Champagne with bubbles of mirth—moonlight and velvet to ALL!

All-Conference Defensive Team Includes Three Puma Gridders

Three members of the 1950 Puma squad were named to the Midlands all-conference defensive team, the Rev. Edward Roof, secretary-treasurer of the conference, announced recently.

The Pumas selected are Guard Bill Ferguson, Chicago junior; Line Backer Gerry Wenzel, sophomore from East Chicago, Ind.; and Fullback John Frawley, Chicago senior. Frawley captained the Pumas this year and was selected most valuable player by his teammates. Wenzel received the football sportsmanship trophy awarded by the Father Falter Post, campus veterans organization.

Guard Ed Cobett, Canton, Ohio; and Halfbacks Ernie Bidwell, Louisville, Ky., and Don Schubert, Evansville, all juniors, received honorable mention.

Between Halves

By FRANK GILLIGAN

Once again we are meeting the deadline and the news report is not overly joyous. The Pumas are currently tailspinning through a four-game losing streak. The only bright side of the picture is that we have defeated four of our remaining nine opponents. Also we meet St. Ambrose here at Collegeville and should be able to avenge the Bees with our home court advantage. If we can win six of our games we would end the season with a 10 won and 13 lost record. This would be a tremendous accomplishment for an inexperienced team which has played one of the roughest schedules in St. Joe history. It can be done if we students get behind them and show a little pep and spirit in the remaining home games. Whatever happened to the pep meetings that were held at the start of the year? It's time Collegeville's population got together and did something about supporting varsity sports around the campus. A college team is only as good as the fans behind it.

The boys from northwestern Ohio are really dominating play on the Puma Freshman cage squad. Even the Coach, Gene Fetter, is a native Ohioan. On the starting five we have Frank Schroeder, of Miller City, and Ralph Wagner, of Delphos. Bernard Boff, of Defiance, is at center, and Ralph Miller, of Miller City, is at forward. Dick Soich, from Chicago's St. Rita High School, is the only outsider on the starting five. The caliber of these Freshman Cagers is shown by their high school records. Meyer and Schroeder both played on Millers City's 1950 Ohio Class B Champions, and Wagner played on the Delphos St. John's team which captured the 1949 B Classic. Dick Soich played on St. Rita's 1950 City Lightweight Champs. Rounding out the first 10 Freshmen are George Smolar, of Whiting, Bob Gallagher, Chicago, and Aldo Facca of New York City. Leading scorers for the Freshmen in their first B games are Boff 31, Soich 30, Schroeder 24, Wagner 16, Pfriem 13, and Stein 7. If Uncle Sam doesn't grab these kids they should make a fine varsity quintet in a couple of years.

The 1950 Football letter winners have been announced by the athletic board. Senior letter winners are Capt. John Frawley, John Righeimer, Joseph Brosnahan, and Pat Gavin. Junior letter winners are Don Schubert, Ed Schultheis, Bill Ferguson, Bert King, Norb Hummel, Ernie Bidwell, Ed Cobett, Mike Kacmar, Jim Noll, and Bob Schaaf. Sophomores to receive letters are John Fedorik, Don Gorman, Tom Paonessa, Joe Pindell, George Riggs, Tom Schnieders and Gerry Wenzel.

Instead of the usual lettered sweaters or blankets, lettermen will receive monogrammed jackets.

Another interesting item to reach our desk is news that Ray Patterson, Bill Krodell and Chuck Barton, all of '50, were inducted into the army on Jan. 30. All three were regulars on the Puma 1949-'50 cage squad.

We are also happy to report that Junior Don Patterson has successfully undergone a knee operation. He is now resting up in the infirmary.

Before we close off for this time, we would like to mention the fine job being done by Keller Riede as chief official of the Intramural Basketball League. Keller also handled intramural football this past fall and will probably still find time to play second base this spring.

State Outlasts Pumas, 60-50

The Indiana State Sycamores continued to wield their whammy over St. Joe's Pumas and defeated them, 60-50, Saturday evening, Jan. 20, in a game which saw a Puma second half spurt come to naught. The Sycamores have now won 15 of the 16 games played between the two schools.

Opening slowly like a couple of cautious boxers, the teams exchanged possession of the ball several times before State's Ed Longfellow sank a free toss with three and a half minutes gone; Ed Schultheis duplicated for the Pumas seconds later.

More than five minutes elapsed before State Guard Dick Atha, finding no way to work the ball in, tried to open up the Puma defense by swishing one from out. Seven and a half minutes were history when Jim Drake, who did not start, sank the first of but five Puma first half field goals. St. Joe trailed 26-14 at halftime. State built up an 18-point lead in the second half at 37-19. At this point Coach Scharf's Pumas, notably Peters, Wilz, and Schultheis, began scoring more frequently, coming within six points of State, at 56-50. But a State field goal seconds before the end, and another by Longfellow which went in after the buzzer, gave them their 10-point advantage.

Coach Gene Fetter's Puma freshmen avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of State's frosh by trouncing them, 71-51, in the preliminary.

Poor Charity Tossing Spells Double Defeat

Ball State's ability to cash in on 22 of 33 free throws proved a vital factor in enabling them to defeat St. Joe 68-58 at Muncie on Jan. 27. The game was an Indiana Collegiate Conference contest, and the win boosted Ball State into fifth place, leaving the Pumas to occupy the cellar.

The game was nip and tuck during most of the first half until the Cardinals put on a determined drive and led 37-26 at intermission.

St. Joe outscored Ball State from the field 25-23 but the Cardinals made the most of 26 personal fouls committed by the Pumas. The Pumas, who have been very inept at shooting free throws throughout most of the season, hit only 8 of 19.

The Pumas lost Ed Schultheis and Tom Saxelby on fouls and three others had four fouls apiece. Only three Cardinals had as many as three fouls, and their entire team committed only 17 fouls.

McColley led the Ball State attack with 17 points, while Jack Wilz high for the Pumas with 11.

High Scorer

JACK WILZ

Jack Wilz, dependable Puma forward, continues to lead all Puma scorers with a total of 157 points in 15 games. Wilz, who hails from Washington, Ind., has been a letterman for the past three years. His best scoring effort of the season came in the game against Lewis College when he hit for 21 points.

Free-throwitis, the dread Collegeville disease which has Coach Dick Scharf muttering to himself these days, reared its ugly head again last Saturday night and assisted the Ball State Cardinals to a 64-56 win over St. Joe. It was the Pumas 11th defeat in 15 games and their fifth in a row.

The loss produced almost carbon copy statistics of the previous Saturday's defeat at Muncie, with the Pumas either outscoring the Cards from the field or holding them even, as was the case last night. But from the charity stripe, St. Joe re-emphasized their "lovely-neighbor" program, by muffing 18 of 30 attempts, while Ball State was potting 20 of the same number.

Wilz on Bench

Coach Scharf used two platoons with his starting five of Kacmar, Elbert, Saxelby, Kukoy, and Peters giving him height, and his second team of Drake, Barrientos, Schultheis, Garren, and Doyle giving him more speed. The team's scoring leader, Jack Wilz, sat out most of the game because of his lack of practice; Wilz was unable to return to school until last Friday afternoon because of the snow and cold weather.

The entire first half of the battle seasawed back and forth. Ball State took a 3-0 lead in the early minutes, but the Pumas (Continued on Page Four)

Frosh Courtmen Win 5, Lose 1

With only three days of formal practise behind them the Freshman basketballers lost the first game of the season to a strong Indiana State quintet by the narrow margin of six points, but the Puma cubs, under the careful tutelage of Coach Gene Fetter came back quickly and have won all of their five other contests.

In an action-packed game until the last four minutes, when St. Joe stalled their way to a 68-64 victory, the junior Pumas knocked off an extremely tall Valpo team which boasts of a six-foot-eight center. On campus they trounced the leading A League Intramural five by some 20 points, and the reserve varsity fell twice before the steadily improving Freshmen. The first game against the varsity reserves was highlighted by Smokey Smolar's last-second basket which gave the Puma cubs a one-point victory.

Track Comes Back; Three Dates on Slate

After many long years, Track will again make its debut this spring on St. Joe's sports slate. Puma thinly-clads will participate in three triangular meets and one Indiana Conference get-together.

Apr. 17 is scheduled for the inaugural meet for the team, with Wabash and Butler as opponents, at Wabash. Then, on Apr. 21, the cinder pounders will journey to Butler for another triangular meet, with Butler and Indiana State. Next to oppose the Pumas will be Ball State and Valpo, at the latter school, on April 28. The final Conference meet will occur on May 12.

Anyone interested in the sport may contact Coach Gene Fetter, and all are cordially invited to try out. Though under present rules, Freshmen may not participate in varsity meets, they have been encouraged to come out just for the experience to be gained.

Famous Pianist Proves Versatile

Last evening the "music of the masters" was interpreted for the St. Joseph's student body by the eminent pianist, Percy Grainger. This was the third Speckbaugh Memorial Theatre Series event this year.

In addition to the classics, Mr. Grainger also presented selections from his own works, principally of the folk tune variety, including: "Country Gardens," "Molly on the Shore," an Irish tune from "County Derry," and "Shepherd's Hey."

Mr. Grainger showed the benefit of his long years of musical training and concert work, which have carried him around the globe. An Australian by birth, he began his study of the piano at the age of six. Since that time, he has achieved world-wide recognition as a piano virtuoso.

Pumas Suffer Eighth Reverse

Taking a page from Valparaiso's book of methods and practices, the Eastern Illinois State Panthers hit just about everything they threw, Jan. 16, in defeating the Pumas at Charleston, Ill., 95-47. The loss was the Pumas' eighth as against four wins. For the Panthers, the win was the 10th in 11 starts.

From the start there was little doubt about the outcome, as the Panthers raced to a 58-18 lead at the half.

Eastern sank just twice as many field goals as did St. Joe, 40 to 20, and exceeded the Pumas at the foul stripe also, making good 15 of 25, while the Scharfmens made but seven of 20.

Guard Jim Drake was high for the Pumas, with 12 points, followed by George Peters with 11 and Ed Schultheis with 10.

The Loras Hawks netted six places on the dream squad; St. Ambrose Bees garnered five, and the Lewis Flyers earned two places.

The coaches decided on a 12-man all-star defensive team to provide for six line positions, three line backers, two halfbacks, and a safety.

The fourth annual Extramural meet, among champion intramural teams for the conference's member colleges, will be held at St. Norbert's, West De Pere, Wis., on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, 1951, it was decided at the meeting.

America-Europe Contrast Is Topic of Lecture Here

Dr. Erik Kuenehl-Leddihn, widely traveled Catholic writer and journalist, will lecture here on Feb. 19, speaking on the general theme of understanding the differences between the European and American minds.

An Austrian by birth, Dr. Kuenehl-Leddihn has had extensive experience in Europe and America. In recent years his articles on contemporary European affairs have appeared in such periodicals as America, Commonweal and the Catholic World, while the English translation of one of his books, "Moscow 1979," is also familiar here. The doctor spends most of his year on the continent, writing and studying, and during the winters, comes to this country to lecture.

Dr. Kuenehl-Leddihn boasts a lifetime of experience in observing the intricacies of European and Russian politics and thought, as viewed progressively through the eyes of a student, journalist, and writer. At sixteen he succeeded in concealing his age to become the Vienna correspondent for the weekly London Spectator. A year later, he attained his degree at the University of Vienna, then set out on graduate studies. At this time he did not reside in one place, but traveled continually throughout Europe. Shortly thereafter he moved his formal residence to Budapest, Hungary, and began his studies at his new home. It was here, at the age of twenty, that he became a Russian correspondent for a Hungarian newspaper.

In 1934, he received his Master's degree, delayed some three years because of his external interests. Between this time and 1937, he was engaged in working toward his Doctorate, studying, in addition to that, Theology, and also writing prolifically. It was during this period, that he began to experience various harassments from the then-powerful Nazi regime, especially in the form of confiscation of some of his writings. For these reasons, primarily, he came in 1937 to the United States, and began teaching Geopolitics at Georgetown University. Later he switched to St. Peter's College, in Jersey City, where he was affiliated with the Department of History. Up to the start of the war, and in the midst of these assignments, he continued to do research in Europe, by continually "commuting" between continents.

When war came, he employed his forced confinement in this country to the task of becoming well-acquainted with it, through extensive travel. While covering some 14,000 miles, he photographed a great deal. Many of these shots he has since made into color slides, which he is employing in his lectures abroad to further promote a better understanding and a real knowledge of American life.

Freshman Game

Coach Fetter has adopted the system of running the opponent off the court. He uses a platoon which has thus far proved successful. Both platoons apply the full-court press.

The first platoon consists of Meyers, Soich, Buff, Schroeder and Wagner, with Smolar, Gallagher, Stein, Pfriem, and Facca making up the second unit. All ten men have done some scoring, but Ralph Meyers tops the list.

The Freshman schedule calls for four or five more games.

halls. These have been posted on bulletin boards throughout the campus, as well as a list of the indulgences which may be gained during the Forty Hours.

The three-day devotion will close Sunday evening at 7:30, with the recitation of the Rosary, the Seven Offerings of the Precious Blood, chanting of the Litany of All Saints, Eucharistic Procession and Solemn Benediction.

Press Drive

Press Month drive. As was the case last year, this drive will be handled by NFCCS representatives in each hall, and subscriptions will be placed on a strictly individual basis. The names of the hall representatives and the exact manner in which they will conduct their offices will be announced tomorrow in the auditorium at the first convocation assembly.

Ball State Game

eyed the score and pulled in front at 8-5, holding this edge until the close of the period, when the Cards recaptured the lead at 24-23. True to seasonal form, baskets for both teams were even at eight but the Cardinals hit eight for 13 from the line, while St. Joe could glean only seven for 16.

Before the Pumas could get their sweat pants off for the start of the last stanza, Ball State had romped to a 42-29 lead. This was accomplished, in the main, by the apparently simple process of leaping into the air and spearing a rebound, then firing a pass down floor to the fast-breaking guards.

The Ball State lead ballooned to a 54-36, before Jimmy Drake and Kukoy began to score. Drake stole the ball twice in mid-court for lay-ups, while Joe was hitting from around the free-throw line.

The futile Puma counterattack gained added impetus upon the return to action of Jack Wilz, who immediately stabilized the floor work and produced six points of his own on three buckets. The margin dwindled to only seven markers, before St. Joe lost Saxelby, Drake, and Kacmar on fouls, whereupon it grew to the final 64-56 tabulation.

on Recruitment and Graduate Placement here at the college, and on March 29, Father Hiller, speaking on Communism in Europe as he knows it from personal observation and study. Father Hiller is currently filling several outside requests for talks on this topic.

Student Council-sponsored meetings will occur on March 5, April 5, and May 10; and on April 19, there will be a talk on the history and meaning of the Christopher movement.

Father Robbins has remarked that the schedule is by no means completely filled, and that any organization or individual on the campus who can offer something of interest for presentation may secure time by calling at the Student Welfare Office.

The final three dates on the calendar so far have nothing scheduled for them. In addition, even the scheduled dates are somewhat flexible, and may be changed or juggled if necessary.

Despite their smudgy name, the Blacksheep gamboled over their opposition to capture the A League title, handily, dropping only one tilt in fifteen tussles.

Taking runner-up honors, the Tigers had sufficient claws to attain a respectable 10-5 record, while eight wins and six losses landed the Whiz Kids in third place. In fourth, the Sharpshooters wound up with a record of 7-7. Trailing the field are the Reindeers, "No Relation to Rudolph," and the Daddy-O's, each with records of 2-12.

Over in the B League, the Billikins, having a perfect 7-0 record with only a week remaining are heavily favored to cop the crown.

The Charvets, Joe's Boys, and the Five Dollar Five are in a deadlock for second place, each having six wins and two setbacks. Third place is occupied by the Sons of Erin, with five triumphs and a pair of miscues, while in fourth are the Jabbers, with a 5-3 slate. Trailing in order are the Clovers and Burrheads, with 4-3 and 3-3, respectively, and winding up the list are the Dirty Dozen, with 2-5; the Stags, 1-5; with Flubs, 1-7, and occupying the cellar, the Huggers Muggers, with the unhappy record of 0-11.

With the completion of the B League's season, the championship game between the two leagues' winners will be held. Winner of this event will then journey to St. Norbert's, West DePere, Wis., to represent St. Joe in the Conference Extramural Tourney, on March 17.
